Partnership Zone (IPZ) program through which the state would encourage and support research institutions, workforce training organizations, and globally competitive companies working cooperatively in close geographic proximity to create commercially viable products and jobs.

Using specified criteria, the Department of Commerce, with the advice of the Washington Economic Development Commission, designates the IPZs for a period of four years. An IPZ may renew its designation through a reapplication process, and may lose its designation for failure to meet performance standards. The IPZs are eligible for funds as provided by the Legislature or at the discretion of the Governor. There are currently 14 IPZs in Washington.

Rural County Sales and Use Tax.

Rural counties may impose a local option sales and use tax of up to 0.09 percent. For purposes of the local option tax, rural counties are defined as those with a population density of less than 100 persons per square mile, or smaller than 225 square miles. The tax is deducted from the state's 6.5 percent sales tax.

Revenues from this local option tax may only be used for the purposes of financing public facilities serving economic development purposes and financing personnel in economic development offices. Public facilities must be listed as an officially adopted item in a county's overall economic development plan, the economic development section of the comprehensive plan, or listed in the capital facilities plan.

Summary of Bill:

For the purposes of using rural county sales and use tax proceeds to finance public facilities serving economic development purposes, the definition of public facilities is expanded to include research, testing, training, and incubation facilities in IPZs.
